CR18-089

Requested by: Council Member Sierra

Does Code Enforcement treat habitual offenders differently than first time offenders?
Request for Code Enforcement History at 2815 S. Acoma Street.

The primary goal of Code Enforcement is voluntary compliance. Each complaint or investigation is evaluated as a separate incident regardless of first time offense or an extensive past history. The Municipal Code does not distinguish between the number of offenses or additional steps towards compliance for repeat offenders. During the due process court phase the penalties are imposed by the Judge who will take into account all past Municipal Code Violations to include additional fines, added compliance inspections, additional compliance court dates, educational courses and the possibility of jail time.

The property located at 2815 S Acoma St has been issued multiple "Notice of Violation" and has come into voluntary compliance in each case. The property has not received a summons into court due to the voluntary compliance. The following is a 4 year case history for the property:

COD1511-0208	IN COMPLIANCE	INOPERABLE VEHICLE
COD1511-0209	IN COMPLIANCE	TRASH AND LITTER
COD1605-0359	IN COMPLIANCE	INOPERABLE VEHICLE

SUBJECT: Council Request CR 18-091: Process for Amending a PUD.

City Council has requested the process on how to amend a PUD.

The Englewood Municipal Code (EMC) contains regulations for amendments to both PUD District Plans as well as Site Development Plans. Following is the EMC language as found in Section 16-2-8 (I). As noted, an amendment to a District Plan requires the full PUD approval process to begin anew, including neighborhood meetings (EMC Section 16-2-8).

I. Amendments.

1. District Plan Amendments.

- a. Major Amendments to the PUD District Plan: Major amendments may be made to the approved Planned Unit Development District Plan pursuant to the procedures as provided within this Section 16-2-8 EMC, including a neighborhood meeting. Major amendments shall include any of the following:
- (1) An increase in the maximum building height beyond that allowed in the approved PUD District Plan.
 - (2) An increase in the maximum allowed density or number of units beyond that allowed in the approved PUD District Plan.
 - (3) A change in land use to a use not otherwise allowed in the approved PUD District Plan.
 - (4) A reduction of the perimeter setbacks from those required in the approved PUD District Plan.
 - (5) A reduction in the amount of landscaping required in the approved PUD District Plan.
 - (6) An increase in the allowed lot coverage above that approved in the PUD District Plan.

- (7) Any change not considered a minor amendment by the City Manager or designee.
 - b. Minor Amendments to the PUD District Development Plan: The City Manager or designee may approve minor amendments in the location of structures or facilities, or location of streets or walkways if required by engineering or other circumstances not foreseen at the time the Planned Unit Development District Plan was approved so long as no amendment violates any standard or regulation set forth in this Section; or any change not listed as a "Major Amendment" in Section 16-2-8(I)(1)(a) above.
2. Site Development Plan Amendments: All PUD Site Development Plans and documents may be changed and/or amended in whole or in part from time to time as provided in this Section.
- a. Major Amendments to PUD Site Development Plans: PUD Site Development Plans approved and recorded hereunder may only be amended as provided in Section 16-2-8(H)(3) and (G) EMC. This shall include those amendments which meet any of the following criteria:
 - (1) A change in the character of the development; or
 - (2) A change in the allowed land uses; or
 - (3) A change in the general location of land uses; or
 - (4) An increase in the maximum allowed building or structure height; or
 - (5) An increase in the number of dwelling units, or in the ratio of the gross floor area of structures to the land area, or increases in the proposed gross floor area within any particular land use; or
 - (6) A change in the required setbacks from property lines, or "build-to" lines; or
 - (7) An increase of more than two percent (2%) in ground coverage by structures or surface parking; or
 - (8) A reduction by more than two percent (2%) in the land area designated for landscaping; or
 - (9) A reduction in the ratio of off-street parking and loading space to gross floor area or number of dwelling units in structures; or
 - (10) A change affecting the access from and through public right-of-way.
 - b. Minor Amendments to PUD Site Development Plan: The City, through the City Manager or designee, may authorize minor deviations from the PUD Site Development Plan when such deviations appear necessary in light of technical or engineering considerations, Minor Amendments shall not be permitted for any changes included with the list of Major Amendments in Section 16-2-8(I)(2)(a) above.

Regarding Site Development Plan Amendments, EMC Sections 16-2-8(H)(3) and (G) apply. A Pre-application meeting, neighborhood meeting and public hearings before the Planning & Zoning Commission and City Council are required.

SUBJECT: Council Request 18-097

18-097 Request for information on restraining order violation.

Requested by: Council Member Barrentine

Information was requested by Council member Barrentine reference the police response to a restraining order violation that allegedly occurred on June 30, 2018. Officers responded to a call for service on a possible protection order violation and contacted the reporting person who advised that the order prohibited the subject of the order from being within 100-yards of her residence. The officers contacted the subject of the protection order and learned that he had been visiting a friend in the area and that the distance he was from the protected party's home was very close to 100 yards. Upon clearing the subject, officers found he had two active warrants for his arrest; he was taken into custody and transported to the Arapahoe County Jail. Based on the totality of circumstances officers did not believe they had enough evidence to charge the subject with a violation of the protection order at that time.

One of the original responding officers later returned to the location of occurrence and measured the exact distance finding that the subject had been 50 feet within the 100-yard stipulation of the protection order. Upon learning the exact distance, the officer reviewed the protection order and noted that the order provided conflicting information, stating that the subject could not be within 100-yards of the protected party or her residence, and stating that the 100-yard restriction excluded the residence of the protected party, thus, contradicting this stipulation of the order. The officer contacted the District Attorney's Office who advised that based on the conflicting information officers did not have probable cause to arrest the subject until the language of the protection order was clarified. This information was relayed to the protected party at that time.

Englewood Police Department Victim/Witness coordinator Nancy Wenig has been in contact with the protected party, and is working with her in order provide any needed victim services.

On July 9, 2018, the protected party and another individual, Jerry Walker, met with Commander Martin at the Englewood Police Department. Commander Martin explained that the information in the protection order needed to be clarified so that officers could enforce the 100-yard restriction. Mr. Walker and the protected party stated they were going to the courts to have the order amended. The protected party and Mr. Walker were shown a copy of the Colorado Crime Information Center teletype by a sergeant and the conflicting information was pointed out. Mr. Walker requested a copy of the CCIC teletype and was advised the information was not public record, was protected under Criminal Justice Information Services, (CJIS) and could not be released. Commander Martin asked that the protected party contact Englewood Police when the language in the order was clarified.

On July 10, 2018, the protected party contacted police to see if the protection order had been clarified. An officer reviewed the protection order that appeared to have been revised on that date. The order still contained conflicting information that, in essence, allowed the subject of the order to be within 100-yards of the residence of the protected party.

On July 11, 2018, Commander Martin met with Mr. Walker at the Englewood Police Department. Mr. Walker was shown a copy of the CCIC teletype of the protection order. Commander Martin pointed out the conflicting information in the order and advised Mr. Walker that the courts needed to clarify the 100-yard stipulation in order for officers to enforce that section of the order. Commander Martin further advised Mr. Walker that the other stipulations of the order were enforceable. Mr. Walker advised that he would be getting with the protected party and assisting her in getting the order clarified. Commander Martin asked Mr. Walker to have the protected party contact the police if the subject of the protection order violated any other parts of the protection order.

On July 11, 2018, Commander Martin received a sealed copy of the protection order from the Colorado Bureau of Investigation; the order clearly states the subject of the order shall not be within 100 yards of the protected party's address. Commander Martin spoke with a representative of CBI who advised that the CCIC filed that contained the conflicting information was limited in regards to the amount of information that can be input. Commander Martin was advised that this was a systems issue and that CBI was attempting to get it resolved. Commander Martin advised officers that if a victim produced a sealed copy of a protection order they shall copy or photograph the order, to be retained as evidence, and enforce the stipulations of the sealed copy. Additionally officers were advised that the term "excluded" on the CCIC teletype is intended to read "excluded from" and should be enforced in that manner.

Council Request #18-100

Assigned to: Commander Englert

Date Assigned: July 10, 2018

Follow-up information requested regarding the Code Enforcement policy to take police officers along when citations are issued. JJ Margiotta was referenced specifically.

The safety of city employees during the course of their duties is a high priority of the Police Department. Code Officers routinely deal with emotionally charged situations that could have a negative impact on citizens. Code Officers are instructed to request the assistance of Police Officers in situations that they feel have the potential to be very confrontational. Police Officers will standby to maintain the peace in such interactions. A prior contact with JJ Margiotta led the Code Official to believe the issuance of the summons in this case could be confrontational. Mr. Margiotta did write an obscenity on the bottom of one of the summons when he signed his name. Police Officers respond to any such request from any city employee or citizen. There is no written policy governing Code Officers requesting assistance.

18-102 Request for information on traffic Hot Spot near E. Floyd and S. University.

Requested by: Mayor Olson

The Englewood Police Department received information about speeding vehicles along southbound S. University near E. Floyd Ave. Patrol officers have been directed to provide increased traffic enforcement in the area. An Englewood resident provided additional information, clarifying the time of day, days of the week and additional locations along E. Hampden where there appears to be an increase in speeding vehicles. This additional information was provided to officers so that traffic enforcement efforts can be focused to the specific times when increased violations appear to be occurring. The information about speeding vehicles will be relayed to surrounding police agencies as well.
